CERTIFICATE OF COUNTY CLERK,

STATE OF MISSOURI, COUNTY OF WASHINGTON, SS

In compliance with the provisions of Section 4768, Revised Statutes of Missouri, 1889, I, ISAAC B. HEADLEE, Clerk of the County Court, in and for the County and State aforesaid, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true statement of all the nominations of candidates for offices to be filled at the General Election to be held November 6th, 1894, as certified to me by the Secretary of State, and ALL nominations filed in this office, as the law directs.

In testimony whereof, I hereunto set my hand and affix the Seal of the said County Court. Done at office in the Town o'

Potosi, this 22d day of October, 1894. ISAAC B. HEADLEE, Clerk of the County Court, Washington County, Mo.

A DRESS REFORM WEDDING. Reference has already been made in The Republic to the extraordinary bridal co-tume of Miss Kate Walker of Christ Church. New Zealand, who was recently married to Mr J. R. Wilkinson in that far-away town. In New Zealand, be it remembered, women vote. Bride and groom are members of the New Zealand Dress deform Association. At their weldling (is may be seen from the forezoing copy of a photograph taken by Standish & Precee of Christ (harreh), the pair practiced what they had all along been p eaching. The bride's costume was of stone-blue bengaline, with vest and revers of white silk, embroidered with gold. The bridesimids likewise wore beautiful breeches.—St. Louis Republic.

USEFUL AND SUGGESTIVE

-Cream Custards.—To one quart of cream add six eggs, slightly beaten. Strain the cream and eggs into a double boiler, add six tablespoonfuls of sugar and boil ten minutes. When nearly cold add flavoring. - Boston Budget. -Baked Trout.-After the trout are eleaned, open and lay out flat on back, sprinkle with pepper and salt, and brush lightly with melted butter. Cover with rich milk and cream, and let them bake slowly until tender. - N.

Y. Observer. -Tomato Preserves.-Five pounds ripe tomatoes, five pounds sugar, quarter pound green ginger, one lemon. Cut the lemon in slices and remove the seeds. Peel the tomatoes and cut them in halves, add the ginger and boil one hour; now add the sugar and boil down until as thick as jam. Put up in small jars; it is a very rich sweetment.

Country Gentleman. -Parsnips should be washed in the same way as beets. They can then be cut in thin slices and stewed, adding butter, sait, pepper and cream as seasoning; or they can be parboiled and then dipped in egg and cracker crumbs and fried brown on both sides in butter. For the latter method they should be cut in slices a quarter of an inch thick, either round or lengthwise, as you prefer. -Spiced Grapes.-Wild grapes are best for this use. They should be stemmed, washed, boiled till soft, and then pressed through a coarse sieve. To each ten pounds of the pulp thus prepared add half the weight of sugar. an even tablespoonful of einnamon, a heaping teaspoonful each of cloves, spice and pepper, a grated nutmeg and two quarts of vinegar. Boil till it is as thick as catsup, then bottle. - Good Housekeeping. -Apple Pudding. -Pare, quarter and core enough sour apples to fill a pudding mould two-thirds full; season with butter and spice, and add enough water to stew. Make a dough as for tea biscuit, cover the apples neatly and cut openings for the escape of steam. Invert another mould of the same size over the top, cook fifteen minutes on top of the stove and finish in a moderate oven. Serve hot with any sauce

Another cloak is three-quarter fitting at the front and sides, with a deep yoke cut square across the front and back. At the back is a very deep Watteau plat, and over the top of this is a fall of thread lace about a quarter of a yard wide. Above this lace, upon the yoke, which is of solid embroidery or passementerie, is a bow of velvet ribbon with ends that fall two-thirds of the length of the dress skirt. Velvet sleeves are in leg-o-mutton fashion, and over the shoulders are deep and very full ruffles of lace. Across the front of the yoke is a double flounce of lace that falls some distance below the waist line. This is an extremely elaborate garment and very dressy. Upon a tall, slender and stylish woman it may look exceedingly well, but everything worn with it must correspond .--N. Y. Ledger.

So thoroughly have these business as politics in this country, bow, he emphatically knows whur he is at. He hasn't dropped into our midst by accident, but comes under the auspices of the Literary society, which is payin' his wages and backin' him to the last gasp. So let it be understood that if you happen to have any criticisms to offer, you are to do your kickin' to the society, and not to the signor. I'll jest add that if you expect him to swing the fiddle around his head or play it under his leg, like we used to skip stones across the swimmin'-hole when we were little boys and girls, you may just as well go right now and git your money back from the doorkeeper, for the signor hain't that kind of a player. That's ati I have to say at present. Start her up up, signor."—Harper's Magazine.

Patrick was in the drawing room on some errand, and caught sight of his mistress's photograph on the mantel.
"Yes, Patrick," said the lady, in response to some exclamation of his, that is my picture; but it flatters me a little." "And sure, mum, it would have to flatter you a good deal," said Patrick, "to look as well as you do in my eyes, mum."-Boston Transcript.
